receptionists

Is your spa or salon reception driving revenues, promoting teamwork, and building repeat client business?

The answer to all three should be "Yes!"

Getting spa or salon reception right is critical. The first and last client communication is with spa or salon reception. Is your reception doing its part to maintain good client relationships and representing the spa or salon brand?

Personal dynamics between therapists and team dynamics between therapist and reception teams are impacted by how the reception operates. Is your reception supporting your therapists to build a repeat clientele base and driving revenues by upselling and cross-selling?

Are complaints handled effectively and professionally?

Is your social media strategy supported from the front line?

The Evolution-U Spa Academy "How to run a standout Spa or Salon Reception" training answers these and many more questions needed to run a profitable, effective and team focused spa or salon reception which will drive spa revenues and business longevity.

"The Evolution-U Spa Academy offers a unique spa and salon training solution based on 20 years of operational experience from one of Asia's most awarded spa salon chains, combined with world leading business psychology content used by Fortune 500 companies."

Course Content

Spa and salon reception skills training is overlooked, with most of the training budget being used on treatment and product training. We estimate however, that a poorly run spa or salon reception can leak up to 20% of revenue. This training is designed to plug those leaks and make reception not only a key revenue generator, but also a facilitator of great team dynamics!

What our clients have said...

The training helps build confidence to face walk-in clients or incoming calls, additional techniques for handling bookings, upgrading the standard of service and especially on Social Media.

ROSSANA
Spa Receptionist

Excellent ways to create connections between the reception and the clients.

KIM
Spa Receptionist

This training helped a lot and reminds us what is missing and how to improve our knowledge. Especially important nowadays with social media being the most convenient way to reach clients and level up the playing field.

ROSSANA
Spa Receptionist

The techniques taught for booking potential clients (smart bookings) and spa branding are really useful.
